TEACHING SYLLABUS FOR CREATIVE ARTS (Primary Schools)

INTRODUCTION:

In recent times, Ghana has embarked upon a constructive national transformation programme which demands identification of important areas of national development, such as agriculture, industry, science and technology, education, health, culture, democracy and the economy. For the nation's forward march, there is the need to prepare the human resource in all related areas of development.

A very crucial element for national development is national creativity. Today, in our attempt to speed up national development, there is the need to lay a strong foundation for national creativity through Creative Arts. However creating should also be fostered through other subjects in the curriculum. The main focus of Creative Arts is critical and creative thinking and responding to performance, problems solving and socio-economic progress.

Creative Arts are essential to the development of emotional, material, spiritual and intellectual life. Opportunities to actively participate in creative or in artistic process (singing, playing an instrument, drawing, carving, acting, dancing, composition and appreciation) enhance the growth of one's imagination and self-expression. Creative Arts provide avenues for strengthening social identity and unity of purpose, discovering the cultural heritage and creating a unifying nation. Apart from unlocking the creative potentials of the individual, Creative Arts are the foundation for the development of skills in Design and Technology, and therefore, preparation for industrial development. Ghana must change from dependence on other people's technologies and finished products to the development of its own indigenous innovation and also train its citizens to creatively add value to national resources.

Likewise, we should begin to add value to our indigenous music, dance and drama.

RATIONALE

The reasons for studying Creative Arts are many. They:

- Transmit, promote and preserve the culture of a nation,
- Help the learner to think critically and imaginatively to develop ideas for designing, making and responding to process and products.
- form a unique component in the development of the minds of learners.
- embrace all domains of knowledge and life:
intellectual, social, psychological, spiritual, artistic/aesthetic and physical.
- affect all classes of people: the rich, poor, educated or uneducated.
- provide avenues for self-expression, visual knowledge and the sense of discrimination between what is beautiful and unpleasant, so that people can make the right choices.
- provide the medium for critical and imaginative thinking, doing/making and responding to processes as well as products.
- help to develop the ability to adapt positively to the changing local and global environment and the need to help sustain it.
- develop skills and aptitudes for learning new knowledge, and prepare pupils for further education and training.

GENERAL AIMS

The Creative Arts syllabus is designed to help pupils to:

- think critically and imaginatively.
- make, re-create and discover knowledge and meaning.
- develop a spirit of innovation, creativity and resourcefulness.
- develop practical skills and different modes of thinking.
- acquire skills to analyse and evaluate creative works and to recognize their personal aesthetic tastes as well as those of others.
- develop human and moral values such as of tolerance, sharing, helping, concentration, discipline, self-confidence, co-operation, honesty, self-awareness, self-expression teamwork and sense of judgment.

SCOPE OF CONTENT:

Creative Arts are an integration of Visual Arts(drawing, weaving, modelling, casting, carving, painting etc.) Sewing and Performing Arts (music, dance and drama)

ORGANISATION AND STRUCTURE OF SYLLABUS

The Creative Arts syllabus is organised in Years , and for each year in three Terms. Each term has sections which are further organised into Units

SECTION 1: CREATING THROUGH, PERFORMANCE, COMPOSITION AND TWO – DIMENSIONAL ACTIVITIES

General Objectives: Pupils will

1. acquire basic knowledge, skills and values through Performance, Composition and Two – Dimensional Art Activities such as picture making, print and pattern-making.
2. develop skills in critical, independent thinking, reasoning and imagination.
3. acquire skills in self-expression.
4. appreciate products of artists/artistes and beauty in the environment.

SECTION 2: CREATING THROUGH PERFORMANCE, COMPOSITION AND THREE – DIMENSIONAL ART ACTIVITIES

General Objectives: Pupils will:

1. develop basic knowledge, skills and values through Performance, Composition and Three-Dimensional Art Activities such as weaving, sewing, modelling, carving, casting, construction, drama, singing, drumming and dancing etc.
2. recognise the importance of originality, design and craftsmanship and performance.
3. acquire skills in self-expression.
4. develop critical independent thinking, reasoning and imagination.
5. recognise the importance of appreciating beauty in the environment and works of artists / artistes.

PRE-REQUISITE SKILLS

Pupils have been exposed to creative activities in kindergarten, and at home where they do most of these activities in music, drawing, painting and dance informally.

TIME ALLOCATION

A maximum of six (6) periods a week of 30 minutes (three double periods of 30 minutes) is recommended for teaching Creative Arts. The six periods should be put into a double period of 60 minutes. Creative Arts must be taught practically and therefore adequate time should be given to the lessons.

SUGGESTIONS FOR TEACHING THE SYLLABUS

The syllabus has been planned in Five columns of Units, Specific Objectives, Content, Teaching Learning Activities and Evaluation.

General Objectives General objectives for the sections have been listed at the beginning of each year. The general objectives are a summary of the specific objectives of the units of the sections. Read the general objectives very carefully before you start teaching the units under. After teaching all the units of a section, go back and read the general objectives again to be sure you have covered the general objectives adequately in your teaching,

Sections and Units: Each section of the syllabus represents Creating Through Two-Dimensional Activities or Creating Through Performance, Composition and Three-Dimensional Activities. A section is divided into units, where a unit consists of a body of knowledge and skills that form a logical aspect of the section.

Column I - Units: The Units in Column 1 provide the major topics of the section. You are expected to follow the unit topics according to the linear order in which they have been presented. However, if you find at some point that teaching and learning of a unit will be more effective if you branched to another unit before coming back to the unit in the sequence. you are encouraged to do so.

Column 2 - Specific Objectives: Column 2 shows the Specific Objectives for each unit. The 'specific objectives begin with numbers such as 1.2.2 or 2.2.1. These numbers are referred to as "Syllabus Reference Numbers. The first digit in the syllabus reference number refers to the section; the second digit refers to the unit, while the third digit refers to the rank order of the specific objective. For instance, 1.2.2 means: Section 1, Unit 2 (of Section 1) and Specific Objective 2. In other words, 1.2.2 refers to Specific Objective 2 of Unit 2 of Section 1. Similarly, the syllabus reference number 2.2.1 simply means Specific Objective number 1, of Unit 2 of Section 2. Using syllabus reference numbers provides an easy way for communication among teachers and other educators. It further provides an easy way for selecting objectives for test construction. Let's say for instance that Unit 2 of Section 2 has two specific objectives: 2.2.1 - 2.2.2. A teacher may want to base his/her test items/questions on objectives 2.2.1 and 2.2.1 and not use the other three objectives. In this way, a teacher would sample the objectives within the units of the section to be able to develop a test that accurately reflects the importance of the various objectives taught in class.

You will note also that specific objectives have been stated in terms of the pupil i.e. "what the pupil will be able to do after instruction and learning in the unit. Each specific objective hence starts with the following: "The pupil will be able to. " This in effect, means that you have to address the learning problems of each individual pupil. It means individualizing your instruction as much as possible such that the majority of pupils will be able to master the objectives of each unit of the syllabus.

As has been said already, the order in which the unit topics appear should not necessarily be the teaching order. There should however, be a linkage in the order in which the units and specific objectives are treated. The teacher will have to study the syllabus carefully and plan ahead the activities the pupils will carry out during a particular lesson. Knowing the requirements of a lesson, the teacher should assemble the tools and materials required for the activities well in advance. The collection of tools and materials must be done by both the teacher and pupils. Other regular materials may be continually collected and stored to be used when needed. When materials are not available in the immediate environment, the teacher should try to contact persons in higher institutions and in the community for help.

As pupils begin work on activities of each lesson, the teacher should serve as a facilitator and motivate the pupils in various ways to sustain their interest. As much as possible, resource persons may be invited to make presentations and demonstrations to the class. Field trips may be organised to the community.

Profile Dimensions

A central aspect of this syllabus is the concept of profile dimensions that should be the basis for instruction and assessment. Learning may be divided into a number of classes. A pupil may acquire some knowledge through learning. The pupil may also learn to apply the knowledge acquired in a new context. For instance, the principles for identifying design elements in the natural and man-made environment may be taught the pupil. If this is done well, the pupil will acquire the knowledge and understanding of design principles. Beyond this, the pupil may be required to apply the elements and principles of design in producing an item such as musical instrument, toy or handkerchief. You will note from the sequence described that the pupil has gone through acquisition of basic knowledge; has acquired practical skills; and has had the opportunity to apply the knowledge acquired in a particular problem situation. The four learning behaviours, "knowledge" understanding "application" and "practical skills" are referred to as "dimensions of knowledge". "Knowledge" is a dimension; "application of knowledge" is also a dimension. More than one dimension forms a profile of dimensions. A specific objective may be stated with an action verb as follows: The pupil will be able to describeBeing able to "describe" something after the instruction has been completed means that the pupil has acquired "knowledge". Being able to explain, summarise, give examples etc. means that the pupil has understood the lesson.

Similarly, being able to develop, plan, construct, design, compose etc. means that the pupil can "apply" the knowledge acquired in some new context. You will note that each of the specific objectives in this syllabus contains an "action verb" that describes the behaviour the pupil will be able to demonstrate after the instruction. "Knowledge", "application" etc. are dimensions that should be the prime focus of teaching and learning in schools. Instruction in schools, in most cases has tended to stress knowledge acquisition and memorization to the detriment of other higher level behaviours such as application, analysis etc. The focus of the new form of teaching and learning as indicated in this syllabus and in all others, is to move teaching and learning from the didactic acquisition of knowledge and rote memorisation to a new position where pupils will be able to apply their knowledge, develop analytical thinking skills, develop plans, design new products, generate new and creative ideas and solutions; and use their knowledge in a variety of ways to deal with problems and issues, solve problems and generally be productive. Each action verb indicates the underlying profile dimension of each particular specific objective. Read each objective carefully to know the profile dimension you have to teach,

Column 3 - Content: The "content" in the third' column of the syllabus presents a selected body of information that you will need to use in teaching the particular unit. In some cases, the content presented is quite exhaustive. In some other cases, you could add more information to the content presented. In any case, try to find more information through reading and personal investigations, to add to the content provided. The use of resource persons will in many cases, help to provide your class with more information and skills. The column also suggests tools and materials that can be used for the unit or lesson.

Column 4 -Teaching and Learning Activities (T/LA): T/LA that will ensure maximum pupil participation in the lessons are presented in Column 4. Try to avoid rote learning and drill-oriented methods and rather emphasise participatory teaching and learning, and also emphasize the cognitive, affective and psychomotor domains of knowledge in your instructional system wherever appropriate. You are encouraged to re-order the suggested teaching and learning activities and also add to them where necessary in order to achieve optimum pupil learning. (As we have implied already, the major purpose of teaching and learning is to make pupils able to apply their knowledge in dealing with issues both in and out of school. Pupils must be taught to be problem solvers. In this particular subject, pupils are expected to acquire valuable basic practical skills to serve as a foundation for further skill development. Observe and also ensure that pupils exhibit skills and values in their behaviour and in creative activities.

Column 5 - Evaluation: Suggestions and exercises for evaluating the lessons of each unit are indicated in Column 5. Evaluation exercises can be in the form of oral questions, quizzes, class assignments (e.g., designing and drawing), assignments, project work; etc. Try to ask questions and set tasks and assignments that will challenge your pupils to apply their knowledge to issues and problems, and that will engage them in creating new and original items, and developing positive attitudes as a result of having undergone instruction in this subject. Evaluation should also include observation of processes pupils go through in performing various activities, and the products pupils make. Processes and products are both equally important and need observation and correction. The suggested evaluation tasks are not exhaustive. You are encouraged to develop other creative evaluation tasks to ensure that pupils have mastered the instruction and behaviours implied in the specific objectives of each unit.

Lastly, bear in mind that the syllabus cannot be taken as a substitute for lesson plans. It is therefore necessary that you develop a scheme of work and lesson plans for teaching the units of this syllabus.

Note “Practical Skills” must be given 80 per cent of the teaching and learning time to emphasise the point that Creative Arts is more toward the acquisition of practical skills at the school level The remaining 20 per cent can be used for theoretical aspect of Creative Arts such as, observing, listening, responding, talking, reporting, describing, brainstorming and discussion.

The explanation and words involved in each of the dimensions area as follows:

Knowledge and Understanding (KU)

Knowledge The ability to:

remember, recall, identify, define, describe, list, name, match, state principles, facts and concepts. Knowledge is simply the ability to remember or recall material already learned and constitutes the lowest level of learning.

Understanding The ability to:

explain, summarise, translate, rewrite, paraphrase, give examples, generalise, estimate or predict consequences based upon a trend. Understanding is generally the ability to grasp the meaning of some material that may be verbal, pictorial, or symbolic.

Application of Knowledge (AK)

Ability to use knowledge or apply knowledge, as implied in this syllabus, has a number of learning/behaviour levels. These levels include application, analysis, synthesis, and evaluation. These may be considered and taught separately, paying attention to reflect each of them equally in your teaching. The dimension "Use of Knowledge" is a summary dimension for all four learning levels. Details of each of the four sub-levels are as follows:

Application The ability to:

apply rules, methods, principles, theories, etc. to concrete situations that are new and unfamiliar. It also involves the ability to produce, solve, operate, plan, demonstrate, discover etc.

Analysis The ability to:

Break down materials into its component parts; to differentiate, compare, distinguish, outline, separate, identify significant points etc, recognise unstated assumptions and logical facilities, recognize inferences from facts etc.

Synthesis The ability to:

Put parts together to form a new whole. It involves the ability to combine, compile, compose, devise, plan, revise, design, organise, create, generate, discuss etc.

Evaluation The ability to:

appraise, compare features of different things and make comments or judgments, contrast, criticize, justify, support, discuss, conclude, make recommendations etc. Evaluation refers to the ability to judge the worth or value of some materials based on some criteria.

You will note from the above that evaluation is the highest form of thinking and behaviour and is therefore the most difficult behaviour. This accounts for the generally poor performance of pupils and people generally on tasks that call for evaluation. Start to develop this important skill early in your pupils by giving them lots of chances to do evaluative thinking, which is judging, appraising and critiquing the quality or worth of products.

Practical Skills (PS)

Practical skills refer generally to the psychomotor domain. This involves the demonstration of manipulative skills using tools/equipment and materials to carry out practical operations, pre-image to solve practical problems, and produce items. The teaching and assessment of practical skills should involve projects, case studies and creative practical tasks.

Skills required for effective practical work are the following:

1. Handling of Tool/Equipment/Materials
2. Observation
3. Craftsmanship/Draftsmanship
4. Perception
5. Creativity
6. Communication

Tools/Equipment/Material Handling: Pupils should be able to handle and use tools/equipment/materials properly for practical to acquire skills through creative activities.

Observation: The pupil should be able to use his/her senses to make accurate observation of skills and techniques during demonstrations. The pupil in this case should be able to apply imitate the techniques he/she has observed for performing other tasks.

Craftsmanship/Draftsmanship: This involves the skilful and efficient handling of materials and tools for accomplishing specific tasks according to the level of the pupils.

Perception: The pupil should be able to respond to his/her environment using all the senses ie. seeing, hearing, smelling, touching, tasting and kinaesthetics. The pupil should be encouraged to apply these senses to every project he/she undertakes.

Originality/Creativity Pupils should be encouraged to be creative or original and be able to use new methods in carrying out projects. Encourage them to be original in making works of arts items and not copy existing work. You can help them to be creative and original by encouraging any little creative effort, technique and product they may develop.

Communication: Pupils should be guided to develop effective oral and written communication skills necessary for group work, reporting and appreciation etc.

The action verbs provided under the various profile dimensions should help you to structure your teaching such as to achieve the set objectives. Select from the action verbs provided for your teaching, in evaluating learning before, during and after the instruction.

ORGNISATION AND STRUCTURE OF THE SYLLABUS

The Creative Arts syllabus is organized in Years and for each Year, in Three Terms. Each term has sections which are further organized into Units.

MODE OF ASSESSMENT

Assessment in Creative Arts is of practical activities. It consists of School-Based Assessment (SBA) (Continuous Assessment) and End-of- term and Year Assessment.

The practical assessment covers:

- (a) Assessment of process.
- (b) Assessment of product.

Assessment of process: Look for creative and critical thinking, originality of ideas in the work; the design, correct handling and use of tools, materials and equipment. The degree of involvement, attitude to the work (including group work), understanding of the process, procedure, techniques and problem solving ability of the pupils must also be assessed.

Assessment of end product: Assessment of the end product to satisfy the objectives of the lesson, tasks, activity/exercise/assignment projects e.g. Is the pupil able to compose, perform, stitch draw and paint as required by the objectives?

Assessment of finished product or performance also includes the pupils' verbal response or intelligent talks about the work/performance.

Continuous Assessment: This covers practical class exercises, assignment, group or individual/ project work with the exception of terminal or end-of-year assessment.

The teacher should AVOID asking pupils to bring purchased items for assessment.

The teacher must also AVOID, criticising or comparing one pupil's work with other works.

NOTE TO THE TEACHERS

The syllabus has been planned in five columns, consisting of Units, Specific Objectives, Content, Teaching and Learning Activities and Evaluation. In teaching Creative Arts, the teacher should take the pupils through the processes of thinking; acting/doing, using tools and materials and performing with the body and its parts. They will also respond, talk about or appreciate the end product. Taking pupils through this process would help them act and respond with their feelings and evaluate their works/performances.

1. The teacher is obliged to teach and assess Creative Arts practically. The suggested weighting : 80 percent of time for practical activities and 20 percent for theory, totalling 100 percent.
2. All children are potentially creative. The duty of the teacher is to develop or foster it through guidance, motivation and conducive classroom environment.
3. Adequate provision should be made for children with special needs, such as helping to participate fully and actively in class activities.

The attributes or behaviour of a Creative child should be observed and fostered. The Creative child:

- a. is curious about his/her environment
- b. has a store/ repertoire of ideas
- c. is constantly resourceful
- d. has the drive to explore
- e. is willing to try
- f. has a flexible mind
- g. is original in thinking and doing things
- h. is imaginative
- i. has the ability to solve problems

Additionally and Specifically, the Creative child will demonstrate skill in:

- observing.
- perceiving(hearing, smelling, tasting, lifting, touching, seeing).
- imaging/ pre-imaging.
- using the memory.

- exploring.
- experimenting, researching, testing.
- comparing, contrasting.
- ideating, generating ideas/alternatives.
- evaluating/judging.
- selecting media, processes, tools, equipment or instruments.
- understanding the relationship among media, techniques and processes.
- communication or expression of ideas.

The teacher must also be creative, resourceful and:

1. arouse the pupil's curiosity and imagination.
2. guide, help, encourage and motivate the pupils.
3. avoid imposing his/her ideas on pupils.
4. show appreciation and respect for a pupil's work and views.
5. select and plan the scheme of work in a balanced way to include 2-dimensional Performance, Composition and 3-dimensional Art activities.
6. use actual or real life situations as teaching and learning experience.
7. never underestimate the pupil's intelligence and creative abilities.
8. take note of the pupils creative growth:
 - a. Perceptual growth (using the sense in exploring, observing the environment and performing creative activities).
 - b. Emotional growth (the pupils' feelings, attitudes and responses to what he/she thinks, sees and does).
 - c. Aesthetic growth (the pupils' ideas and response to beauty through appreciation and valuing).
 - d. Creating/performing (using ideas, tools, materials, equipments/instruments to create items or perform).
 - e. Cultural Heritage (awareness of works of artists/artistes for appreciation and inspiration).
9. Always encourage pupils to be original, inventive and do their own work.
10. Avoid condemning children's work but encourage them for improvement in their work.
11. Offer pupils' the chance to display their works for appreciation and appraisal

PROCEDURE FOR APPRECIATION

Appreciation is the awareness of the qualities in what we see, listen to and do. It is also an intelligent talk about creative products. When appreciating Creative activities such as dancing, drawing and stitching etc and products such as song, bag and picture etc, the teacher should guide the pupils to ask questions such as:

What work is this? Who made it? Does it solve the problem identified? For whom was it made? It is beautiful? Why is it beautiful? What problem did you face during the activity? How did you solve the problem?

PRIMARY ONE

General Objectives for Performance, Composition and Two and Three- Dimensional Creative Art Activities for Primary One. It is expected that by the end of the Year, the pupil will:

1. understand and use the body, materials, tools/ instruments in safe and responsible way.
2. be aware of using the senses, imagination, memory and environment for ideas and self-expression through two and three-dimensional arts activities.
3. develop the capacity to express himself/herself through listening, observing and making of items through visual and performing arts.
